

AASP Annual Conference Presentation Types

	Panel	Roundtable	Workshop	Symposium	Lecture	Poster
Format	Discussion among experts led by a moderator	Collaborative, informal dialogue with equal input from presenters and audience	Facilitated, hands-on session using active or experiential learning	Series of related presentations	Single expert presents	Visual display
Audience Role	Listeners with limited interaction, mainly during Q&A	Active participants, particularly in small group (“roundtable”) discussions	Highly interactive, practical engagement	Listen and ask questions during Q&A	Listen and ask questions	Review, discuss, and ask questions
Focus	Exploring diverse viewpoints or experiences	Generating ideas, peer exchange and networking	Skill-building, practical application	Presenting research findings or advancements	Conceptual, methodological, or applied interventions	Research or project summary
Interaction	Limited Q&A	High interaction, open dialogue	Very high, task-focused	Limited Q&A	Limited Q&A	One-on-one interaction
Goal	Inform and discuss; share diverse perspectives	Brainstorm and collaborate; in-depth discussion and feedback	Teach, practice, and apply skills	Share research, stimulate discussion, advance knowledge	Educate and inform	Share findings, receive feedback, collegial interaction and discussion